Stuart Henderson Is Candidate of Victoria Liberals

Eminent Barrister Given Nomination for Parliament Yesterday Evening at Great Open Convention of Liberals; Other Nominees Before Meeting at Sons of Canada Hall Were Alderman E. S. Woodward and George McGregor.

Stuart A. Henderson will be the Liberal candidate in Victoria in the forthcoming Dominion election, having been elected on the second ballot yesterday evening at an open nominating convention held at the Sons of Canada Hall. The meeting was one of the largest attended and most enthusiastic the Liberals have had here for some years.

Alderman Woodward headed the count on the first ballot, receiving 189 votes, Stuart Henderson being second with 166. George McGregor having received 91 votes, was dropped for the second tally.

The audience filled every seat when W. H. Kinsman, president of the Victoria Liberal Association, called the meeting to order. Rounds of applause greeted his assertion that the Rt. Hon. Lyon Mackenzie King would be returned to power at the head of an enhanced Liberal representation in the House of Commons. Mr. Kinsman said the excellent attendance pointed to tremendous interest among the Liberals of Victoria in the election, and warranted optimism as to the certainty of return of the Liberal standard bearer by a heavy majority.

On the platform, with President Kinsman were George E. Bonner, J. B. Clearhew, George S. Pearson, M.P.P., Carey Martin, Major S. F. Macdonald and David Hanson.

Balotes were invited to 467 Liberals who registered at the entrance to the hall, all signing an agreement to support the nominee of the convention which was later read to the meeting by the chairman, Col. Tooley, acting as returning officer and Mr. Clearhew read the rules of procedure.

George McGregor was placed in nomination by H. O. Litchfield. The career of the nominee was reviewed. Mr. Litchfield pointing out that Mr. McGregor was a sympathetic and generous employer of a large staff. He had given much time to public affairs, having been reeve of Saanich, a school trustee and a potent influence in the rebuilding of the Royal Jubilee Hospital to a position unexcelled among such institutions in British Columbia.

Mr. Litchfield stated that he presented Mr. McGregor as a candidate for the nomination of good government, such a well-respected leading citizen could win Victoria for the Liberal Party. He believed Mr. McGregor to be of the type worthy to hold cabinet rank if he won Victoria for the party.

CANADA HAS LED NATIONS IN PROGRESS

Geo. S. Pearson, M.P.P., Attributes National Prosperity to Liberal Policies

Mackenzie King Government Reduced Debt and Taxes, Convention Told

A brilliant review of the progress of Canada during the post-war Liberal regime was presented yesterday evening by George S. Pearson, M.P.P., of Nanaimo, in an address given at Liberal nominating convention at the Sons of Canada Hall. The popularity of Mr. Pearson was evidenced by the rounds of applause which greeted his introduction by the chairman, W. H. Kinsman, president of the Victoria Liberal Association.

Mr. Pearson said it was unnecessary to remind the great audience of the basic Liberal policies and the advantages to Canada of continuance of the Mackenzie King government, but elections were similar to horse races in one respect and chances should not be taken because of over-confidence.

NOTABLE PROGRESS
The Mackenzie King government was at the end of a term of office during which most notable progress had been made, and was appealing for return to power at a time when the rest of the world was suffering upheavals of the gravest character, and faced by an opposition which limited itself to stating that prosperity was no indication of good government, and that the Liberal Party had disgraced itself by departing from traditional policies.

Mr. Pearson believed that one of the beauties of Liberalism was its fundamental ability and willingness to adjust itself from time to time to conditions instead of being tied to established precedents.

MINTMASTER WINNER TO-DAY AT MANCHESTER

Six-wheeler Second in English Cup Race; Gentleman's Relish Third

Manchester, Eng., June 13.—Mintmaster won the Manchester Cup here to-day by a head from Six Wheeler, with Gentleman's Relish third, three lengths back. Nine horses ran the mile and a half of the old established feature handicap.

Mintmaster started at odds of 100 to even against, second at 9 to 2 and third at 100 to 8. The winner is owned by a half of the old established feature handicap.

Six Wheeler, owned by H. F. Clayton, is a five-year-old by Tetrameter out of Valencia Bay, and J. O. Arkwright's Gentleman's Relish is a four-year-old.

Markable, chiefly for the apparent apathy of electors in most of the ridings. Reports from all districts indicate meetings are poorly attended and lack of interest is almost general.

MEETINGS CANCELLED
In Edmonton, the capital city, dozens of meetings are planned for the remaining days of the campaign. But here, too, interest is dull. Three of the meetings scheduled to have been held in one hall this week were cancelled for lack of audiences.

The principal campaign of the opposing parties is that the Farmer Government is not representative of all walks of life in the province. Other criticism of the Brownlee Government is chiefly in regard to its fiscal policies.

U.S. SENATE VOTES NEW TARIFF BILL

Washington, June 13.—The United States Senate to-day passed the tariff bill by adopting the conference reports. The vote assured Congressional approval of the measure.

The House will vote to-morrow on the conference agreements, adjusting differences between the two branches, and affirmative action in a few hours is expected.

President Hoover probably will receive the year-and-a-half-old Hawley-Smoot bill next week. Republican leaders have predicted he would sign it.

He will study the provisions before acting. The Senate vote on adoption was forty-four to forty-two.

Contract Awarded For Willows Track And Work Started

City's Agreement With Colwood Park Association on Racing Project Signed This Morning; Williams, Trerise and Williams Are General Contractors for Grandstand and Buildings; Will Be Completed in Time for Racing on August 16.

Williams, Trerise and Williams, general contractors, were to-day awarded the contract for construction for the new grandstand, paddock and betting ring at the Willows fair grounds.

Work was commenced at the track this afternoon and will be expedited in order to have the new buildings ready for the opening of the race meeting on August 16.

The contract for the new five-eighths of a mile track and railing was awarded to the Victoria Fencing and Contracting Company. Sub-contractors for the plumbing and electrical work in the main buildings will be the Colbert Plumbing Company, and the Hawkins and Hayward Electric Company respectively.

WILL RUSH WORK
Announcement of the letting of the contracts was made immediately after the agreement between the city and the Colwood Park Association had been signed by Mayor Ansonby just before noon to-day. Owing to the short space of time intervening before racing is scheduled to open, it was necessary to start work right away at the track.

The plans for the grandstand and track, drawn up by Percy Fox architect, have been approved by the city engineer and building inspector.

The whole work will cost in the neighborhood of $30,000, and is to be put in by the Colwood Park Association in exchange for racing privileges during the next twelve years.

Builders at the Colwood mile track were also erected by Williams, Trerise and Williams.

SASKATCHEWAN ELECTION IS NOW PREDICTED

Metville, Sask., June 13.—A provincial general election in Saskatchewan is not many months away, in the opinion of J. G. Gardiner, former Premier of Saskatchewan.

Speaking at the Manitoba Liberal nominating convention of Hon. W. R. Motherwell, Federal Minister of Agriculture, last night, he stated Saskatchewan Liberals were entering the present election campaign "with forces strengthened from a year ago."

"The Liberal Party" cannot always remain in power," stated the man whose government was succeeded by the Conservatives last June. "We stuck to the principles of Liberalism and went out of power. The attack was not justifiable, but it is thought to-day we are not many months from an election."

It has also been remarkably well accepted in Great Britain."

"The press and leading men of Great Britain have been practically unanimous in their favorable reaction to the budget," he said.

There are very encouraging prospects for increased trade between Canada and Great Britain, he said, and with the prospective trade would come increasing benefits to both countries.

CRERAR SCORES BENNETT PLAN FOR THE TARIFF

Minister Tells Large Brandon Audience Conservative Proposals "Economic Lunacy"

Liberal Policy, He Declares, Is Aimed at Extension of Canada's Trade

Brandon, Man., June 13.—"Economic lunacy" were the words used to describe the high tariff policy of Hon. R. B. Bennett, Federal Conservative Leader, by Hon. T. A. Crerar, Minister of Railways and Canals, in an address here yesterday evening.

It was absolutely false economics to say that by raising the tariff rates they could do away with unemployment and promote industry in this country, declared Mr. Crerar.

The Liberal policy, he said, aimed at the extension of Canadian trade, the development of Canada on a sound basis, the promotion of unity throughout the Dominion and better trade relations with Great Britain.

NOMINATES FOR COMMONS
Mr. Crerar's statements were made during an address to the convention at which both Liberals and Progressives nominated him for the Commons in Brandon, the constituency he represented from the time he entered the Cabinet early in February till the recent dissolution.

The choice was unanimous. No other name was placed before the large and enthusiastic convention.

ENGINEER INJURED

Engineer Willcocks was the first to be dragged from the water. He seemed half drowned and was badly injured over the eyes.

Sir Henry seemed knocked out. He was taken to a nearby hotel. Lady Segrave, who had witnessed the disaster from the shore, crossed over to be with him, and a physician was called.

The Miss England sagged down into the water. All efforts of the launchers could not keep her afloat.

When she reached a certain depth, however, she seemed to regain her position. The craft remained floating, but with only a few feet of her sharply pointed bows showing above the surface.

SANK IN DEEP WATER
There she rested for some time, but the downcast prop eventually was too hard for her. Half an hour later she sank in deep water.

It was stated the accident was due to a step on the outside of the bows of the boat giving away under pressure.

(Concluded on Page 19)

There were two companions in the boat with him. Mechanic E. Halliwell was believed to have been caught under the boat, which sank within half an hour. Efforts to find the body were made immediately.

The third member of the crew, M. J. Willcocks, was badly injured and was taken to a hospital. It was claimed that previous to the accident Sir Henry had broken the world speed record with two runs over a measured mile of 96.44 and 101.11 miles an hour, giving an average of 98.77 miles an hour.

The disaster overtook the boat as Sir Henry was making his new boat, the Miss England II, preparatory to going to the United States in an effort to lift the International Trophy at Detroit.

The speed craft overturned while making a third run at terrific speed over a measured mile, throwing out the occupants. Mechanic E. Halliwell afterwards was feared to have been drowned.

ENGINES ROARED
Sir Henry's attempt at the speed record began auspiciously. Within a few seconds after her start, the Miss England II was traveling at terrific speed. She had twice covered a measured mile and had turned and was traveling almost at her maximum speed with the roar of her giant engines echoing from one shore to the other.

There she rested for some time, but the downcast prop eventually was too hard for her. Half an hour later she sank in deep water.

Alderman E. S. Woodward was placed in nomination by Rabbi Levy, who said his candidate stood for free speech, opposed monopolies and restrictive legislation, such as compulsory vaccination, had supported a minimum wage board and had advocated a compensation board. Mr. Levy said Alderman Woodward was a young man qualified to represent Victoria, having proven his abilities by long service on the city council. William Marchant proposed Stuart Henderson, whom he described as "one who stands stalwart for Liberalism, one who was a Liberal in the days when one spoke almost with bated breath as a Liberal. He was a lover for strength in those days when one could hardly get a corporal's guard for Liberalism." Mr. Marchant touched upon the brilliant legal career of Mr. Henderson, asserting that he was of cabinet calibre. In closing his remarks Mr. Marchant expressed a high regard for both Mr. McGregor and Alderman Woodward, believing any of the trio would be an excellent candidate. Nominations being closed the chairman called on candidates to address the gathering, and Mr. Litchfield read a brief statement from Mr. McGregor, who was unable to attend the convention and urged the necessity of selecting a man of such outstanding type as to assure victory in the elections. "It is because Capt. McGregor has demonstrated his ability as a business man that we want him as our candidate," he concluded.

Gregor, who was unable to attend the convention and urged the necessity of selecting a man of such outstanding type as to assure victory in the elections. "It is because Capt. McGregor has demonstrated his ability as a business man that we want him as our candidate," he concluded.

OBJECT WAS VICTORY

Alderman Woodward said the chairman had struck the correct note when he stated the objective of the meeting was to secure election of a Liberal in Victoria. The nominee told of the friendship and co-operation between himself and Mr. Henderson in earlier elections, and declared Mr. McGregor to bear an honored name, earned by his services to the public. He pledged support to either of the other nominees if they received the favor of the convention.

"If I should ever reach the assembly hall at Ottawa they will at least hear my voice proclaiming the cause of the welfare of the common man. "It is privilege, not capital, which is to-day bearing so heavily on the people of Canada," he said.

FIFTY REVIEW

Stuart Henderson expressed confidence in his ability to put Victoria in the ranks of Liberalism. He felt that if elected he could do more for Victoria than any other one man in the city. "We are here in defence of a government which has a record of eight years, the last four of which have been a marvel of efficiency," he said, telling of the comparatively low percentage of unemployment in Canada contrasted with Europe and the United States. Steady development of industry and commerce had been fostered, despite the fact that, for much of the term the party had been in power. Prime Minister Mackenzie King had only enjoyed a majority of one or two votes in the House of Commons. George E. Bonner, president of the Esquimalt District Liberal Association, believed that if all members of the party would work hard, a Liberal success could be attained in Victoria on election day.

Songs were rendered during the evening by Dr. Harry Johns, accompanied by Miss Hickey, Miss Dorothy Parsons, accompanied by Miss C. M. Arnpup. The proceedings terminated with cheers for the candidate and the National Anthem.

GOOD VARIETY IN LIQUOR SEIZURE; $400 IS FINE

Alc, beer, stout, French wine, loganberry wine, whisky, gin, rum and brandy were included in a store of liquor seized by police at 870 Yates Street and produced in court this morning when Thomas Cassidy was charged with keeping liquor for sale.

Cassidy pleaded guilty to the charge and was fined $400 or, in default of payment, three months in jail. Chief John Fry told of visiting the premises with other officers and seizing the liquor. It was on the second story of the old Northern Hotel, he said.

The liquor was confiscated.

Crowded Seats Of Motorcycles Interest Court

Magistrate George Jay and officers of the City Police Court this morning were let into the mysteries of the length of motorcycle seats when two drivers were charged with riding their motorcycles without sitting on the seats. In each case they were riding a passenger who sat at the rear of the seat, while the driver took the front, with a cushion for comfort.

The court adjourned to the front of the police station for a practical demonstration on how two people can sit on a sixteen-inch seat and both be on the seat. It was shown that part of the seat still protruded in front of the rider when both he and the passenger were in position. The charges were dismissed.

CONTRAST POLICIES

You will all admit that when this government took office in 1921 the world was in a serious condition and Canada was in the same position as that of the other nations. From that time onward the Mackenzie King government was able to exert its influence and has reduced the national debt by $203,000,000, or on a per capita basis, a reduction in nine years of $50 per head, from $771 to $721. "This must be encouraging to us, especially in British Columbia, where we are still floundering in increasing debt," he commented.

Mr. Pearson pointed out that the cost of administration in Canada today under Liberalism was less than in 1914 under the Conservative Party. If the charges attributable to the Great War were first deducted. This achievement was regardless of the increased cost of living. He told of reduction in taxes, the sales tax being now one per cent., a saving of $20,000,000 to the people. Stamp taxes had been reduced, postage charges lowered, the income tax had been slashed and the customs levies on a great number of items had been reduced.

TRADE BALANCE CHANGED

Mr. Pearson quoted figures showing that Canada's trade under the Liberal regime had increased by ninety per cent., with imports increased by eighty per cent. and exports larger by 100 per cent. Since 1925 Canada had sold more goods to other countries than she had imported, a condition unknown before the Mackenzie King regime. The favorable trade balance of Canada had frequently exceeded $100,000,000, and on a per capita basis in 1928 this country had a trade credit balance of $19.72 per head, compared to a similar credit of only $4.65 per capita enjoyed by the United States.

Eminent financiers, including S. H. Logan and Sir Thomas White, were cited as commenting on the extraordinary prosperity of Canadian industry and the speedy accumulation of wealth by the average citizenship in recent years.

"DISGRACEFUL" EFFORT

Mr. Pearson declared "disgraceful" a condition where the leader of a great party should use what unemployment exists in Canada as a stepping stone to power. He declared no one man could fulfill Hon. Mr. Bennett's pledge of prompt termination of unemployment. Instead, co-ordination of effort to eliminate conditions causing unemployment was essential. He had personally advocated such policies in the Legislature of this province, the only result being a greeting from the leader of the government, as he left the Chamber, with the epithet, "well, you damned old Bolshevik." Such had been the only Conservative reaction to a suggestion of investigation of possibilities of co-operation to reduce unemployment.

Mr. Pearson quoted comparative statistics supporting his assertion that unemployment was less serious in Canada than anywhere else in the world. The transformation of the Canadian National Railways was touched upon, its condition when Liberalism took office being such that no party desired to be associated with the system. While major credit was due Sir Henry Thornton, the government was entitled to credit for having the opportunity to give him the necessary authority and opportunity for keeping politics from interfering with the management of the railways.

BUDGET PRAISED

Mr. Pearson said the new Dunning budget was a masterpiece of skill, designed to avoid commercial warfare while supporting home industry and trade within the empire. "Our government has been big enough to try to transfer to Britain trade diverted from lands not inclined to generosity in their attitude towards us," he said, declaring that no spirit of haggling or of seeking returns could be found in the gesture of the Mackenzie King government towards Great Britain, "the motherland, to which we owe so much."

Mr. Pearson said he was satisfied that the people of British Columbia were now convinced that a great mistake was made when the cry "time for a change" was successful in placing the Tominie government in office. Similarly the Conservative party in federal affairs had no grounds to advance, why they should be returned to power, other than a need for a change.

He closed with an appeal for a larger Liberal representation from British Columbia at Ottawa, citing the Conservative Daily Province as taking the view that such a political change would be of advantage to this province.

CALGARIANS HEAR BENNETT'S VIEWS ON TRADE

Conservative Leader Delivers Third Address of Election Campaign Tour

Says Conservatives Believe Trade Treaties Should Be Ended

Canadian Press

Calgary, June 13.—In the third address of his federal election campaign tour, Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader, here last night, dealt chiefly with Canada's trade treaties and agriculture within the Dominion. He spoke in the Victoria Building on the Calgary Stampede Grounds, which was filled with fellow-townsmen of his, he having been nominated at a Conservative convention in the afternoon to contest West Calgary, his old constituency.

On the treaty question he said: "I pledge myself that every treaty entered into by the Liberal government harmful to Canadian agriculture will be abrogated if I am returned to power."

On aid to agriculture he said: "Agriculture must be placed on a basis that the young men of this country will look upon it as one of the great professions of life. Agriculture must be afforded opportunity for education, and the Conservative party, if elected to office, will restore the grants for such education, which have been wrongly discontinued by the King government."

WHEAT TRADE

Fifty-three trade treaties had been entered into by the government, said the Conservative leader. France, Italy, Germany and others, he proceeded, had been given by Canada a minimum in return for a fixed preference given to products of this country. "Well," Mr. Bennett stated, "Italy has now raised the price per bushel of Canadian wheat from seventy-three to eighty-seven cents. France has raised it to ninety-five cents and Germany to ninety-seven cents. So we have these three great countries placing prohibitive tariffs against Canadian wheat and we are powerless under the treaties made by the government unless we denounce them."

In the meantime, the three nations were also exporting their surplus product, he said. "Only at the end of nine years," he remarked, "we found the Minister of Agriculture, Hon. W. R. Motherwell, calling to Ottawa representatives of agriculture, trying to see what can be done to put livestock on an export basis. Why were not even supplying our needs?"

Mr. Motherwell set aside $25,000 for an investigation to decide what was necessary in the matter. I suggest that all that was necessary was for the minister to look into the looking-glass."

Certain sections of the English press, said Mr. Bennett, had made an attack on the Wheat Pool, and had ridiculed the pool, alleging it was holding out for higher prices. That attack should have been met by the Liberal government, Mr. Bennett claimed, and it was only after representations had been made by Mr. Greenfield, Alberta's representative in London, that action was taken. "What about government action?" he asked. "I claim this is a function of government."

MARKETING OF PRODUCE

There was more to the agricultural industry than mere production, Mr. Bennett declared, and location and utilization of the soil must be aided. There was the great problem of distribution of marketing and selling.

He then put the question, "What has the government done? They have in effect said they could do nothing. They threw the responsibility on the Wheat Pool and blamed the co-operative marketers for the decline in agriculture. I deny that view. It is the duty of our trade commissioners to place our products before the world."

Mr. Bennett's speech was carried by loud speakers to an overflow crowd outside the building, and was broadcast by radio throughout the province.

PARTIES LINE UP FOR TEST IN VANCOUVER

Conservatives Nominate Hon. H. R. Stevens For House of Commons

Vancouver, June 13.—With Capt. Ian Mackenzie, M.P.P. nominated for the Commons by the Liberals of Vancouver Centre Wednesday evening and Hon. H. R. Stevens, former member, nominated yesterday evening at a Conservative convention, the parties are lined up in this constituency for the contest which will end at the polls July 28.

In a speech to the convention, Mr. Stevens claimed a large share of the credit for a number of improvements in Vancouver since he was first elected to the Commons in 1911. Among these were the First Narrows, False Creek reclamation, the government wharf and the first grain elevator, the customs examining warehouse and the immigration building, the Ballantyne Pier, the scheme of harbor terminal railways, the boulevard around Brockton Point and the seawall.

SHRINE EVENT AT TORONTO IS AID TO PEACE

U.S.-Canada Monument Unveiled at Convention; Premier King Speaks Over Radio

Toronto, June 13.—Majestic angel with a laurel wreath held high above her head looked from the shore of Toronto across Lake Ontario to-day in token of international accord, after the unveiling yesterday of the Shrine Shriner's peace monument, which climaxed their international convention here. Hundreds of falling bombs unburied tiny flags of Canada, the United States, Mexico and Cuba, and banners to the music of massed bands rendered the national anthems of all four countries in turn as the monument was dedicated.

The lofty ideal of world peace was the theme of addresses by national representatives, whose voices were carried by huge amplifiers over a crowd that stretched for miles, their pleas for world brotherhood were strengthened by messages from statesmen at Ottawa and Washington, who spoke over the radio. The programme was broadcast throughout the English-speaking world.

GREAT THROU THERE

All records for numbers newly established during the convention were broken by the throng which joined the 220 bandmen and 800 chorists, singing "Onward Christian Soldiers." The crowd, as formidable as "an army with banners," was a host for peace, which applauded the speeches of Senator Joseph Robinson of Arkansas, Governor Emerson of Illinois and Hon. George S. Henry, representing Premier Ferguson of Ontario, who were present at the unveiling; and those of Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Prime Minister of Canada, by radio from Ottawa, and Hon. Henry L. Stimson, United States Secretary of State, from Washington, they all joined in a memorable broadcast of the international goodwill.

Through the exhibition grounds sounded the wireless carillon from the Peace Tower of the Parliament Buildings at Ottawa, playing "O Canada" as a prelude to the broadcast of Premier King's speech.

PREMIER'S ADDRESS

Ottawa, June 13.—Expressing the greetings of himself and the Government and people of Canada to the Shriner's convention at Toronto over a radio hook-up here yesterday afternoon, Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Prime Minister, thanked the order for the gift of the monument, which has been erected on the shore of Lake Ontario and which "you are now about to dedicate in the cause of peace."

After referring to the friendly relations between the United States and Canada, Mr. King continued: "The world has nothing finer, civilization itself no achievement greater than the convention and sentiment which for more than a century, has substituted the appeal to reason for the appeal to force in the settlement of differences as have arisen between Nelson, B.C., June 13.—Hon. William Atkinson, B.C. Minister of Agriculture, attended a meeting of the South Kootenay Farmers' Institute in Robson, near here, yesterday. He received from speakers an outline of the fanatical Doukhobors in this district. Only last week, he was told, fanaticism had urged community Doukhobors to take their children out of the schools or "they would be sorry." Community Doukhobors have taken their children out of the schools since the recent bombing episode and time, in which a house was wrecked and a hospital and school burned, the minister was told.

Tariff and Loan, Both Bear Factors, Disappear This Week

New York, June 13.—Two factors of uncertainty that have been hanging over the financial community for some time, mainly the flotation of the German annuity loan and the other the tariff bill, should be removed, by the end of this week, the Herald-Tribune to-day states.

"From a day-to-day trading standpoint, it is true that those who sell stocks have plainly in front of them facts and figures of continued dullness in trade, declining profits and shrinking volume of business," H. P. Ellis says to-day. "On the other hand, those who buy must base operations on the belief in business improvement within ninety days or so and they are more or less in the dark when it comes to uncovering tangible reasons."

"Disillusionment appears complete in regard to early business improvement. The market has been registering that disappointment ever since the first of the month and doubtless we are much nearer stabilization than we were a month ago. We feel that the market is likely to return to a state of relative dullness, with an irregular hesitant trend."

"We see no reason why accounts in general should not be kept liquid."

FOREST FIRES ARE CONQUERED

None extended more than 500 acres, and all were brought under control by crews of fire fighters numbering twenty in each, assisted by favorable weather conditions. Prospects for a record timber harvest in the board feet of timber in the largest limit of the company in the province.

NOW FOR WORK AND CO-OPERATION

IF THE ENTHUSIASM WHICH MARKED the nominating proceedings of the Liberal party in Victoria last night may be taken as any guide to the nature of coming events, there is a brighter prospect of this city sending a Liberal to Ottawa now than at any time in the last ten years. The applause which greeted the announcement that Mr. Stuart Henderson had been selected to carry the party's banner indicated that he will not lack energetic workers in his behalf, since it is obviously realized that if Liberalism is to win the day on July 28, all those who desire the return of the King government must be prepared to work and work hard. Nor need there be any hesitation about it; they have an excellent case to present to the electors. But they must bear in mind that elections are won with ballots and not with wishes.

In Mr. Henderson the Liberal party of Victoria has an experienced campaigner, with a thorough understanding of all the issues which now are engaging the attention of the Canadian people in every section of the country. More than forty years ago he began to practice law in Ontario, later coming to British Columbia, and it was while following his profession at Ashcroft that he was induced to enter public life, and he represented Yale in the local House from 1903 to 1910. His next bid for parliamentary honors was in the general election of 1917, when he was selected as the Liberal candidate to oppose Dr. Tolmie, who, it will be remembered, entered the contest as a supporter of the Union government and won the seat, the sole issue on that occasion being the country's war policy.

As the Liberal candidate, Mr. Henderson will appeal for support on the policies of the King government, more especially on the provisions of the Dunning budget—popular all over Canada and welcomed with enthusiasm in British Columbia. Chief among these are reductions in the duty which British goods have to pay to enter Canada—concessions of great value to the producers of the Motherland at this juncture, while the tariff aid which the budget extends to the agricultural and manufacturing industries of the Dominion obviously strengthens the Liberal candidate's appeal for support at the polls.

Opposed to Mr. Henderson will be a supporter of Mr. Bennett. His appeal for votes will be based upon opposition to any tariff concessions to Great Britain, until Great Britain consents to tax her people still further in order to give Canadian goods an advantage in the British market—a demand which no Liberal government ever will make upon the Motherland, especially in view of the fact that the people of the islands of the North Sea are finding it difficult enough already to make ends meet, without increasing the cost of living still further. The party to which Mr. Henderson's opponent belongs likewise is implacably opposed to the treaties which the King government has negotiated with other parts of the British Empire in the cause of imperial trade development.

British Columbia has a vital interest in the trading arrangement with the Antipodes. Only recently, recognizing its great value to this province, the Tolmie government contributed financial assistance to a delegation of businessmen who toured the southern Dominion to promote more trade. The party led by Mr. Bennett is hostile to the Canadian-Australian treaty, and the Conservative standard-bearer for Victoria naturally takes his orders from his chief.

By electing Mr. Henderson on July 28, therefore, the people of this city will make it clear to the rest of Canada that they no longer desire to be represented in Parliament by a member who would trade with Great Britain only on a bargaining basis, who would abrogate the treaties with other parts of the British Empire—two of which are of outstanding value to the economic progress of British Columbia—and whose party's principal complaint about the Dunning budget is that that important feature of it which gives aid to the Canadian producer is stolen "thunder."

MR. OCHS AND MR. HEARST

IF ANY COMPETENT JUDGE WERE

asked to name the limited list of the most influential Americans of our time, he would certainly include Adolph S. Ochs, publisher of The New York Times, and William Randolph Hearst, publisher of newspapers and magazines all over the United States. Mr. Ochs, supreme in one type of journalism, Mr. Hearst in another, daily mould the thoughts of millions of people. When both of them come out in the same week with a declaration of their considered opinion on the same issue, it is not only something of an event in journalism, but is bound to influence United States opinion as few others could influence it. What Mr. Ochs says and what Mr. Hearst says is that the greatest need of the sorely-tried world to-day is a closer union, a better understanding, a more complete co-operation between the British Empire and the United States, between all the English-speaking peoples. Mr. Ochs summed up this view by saying that "nothing in the world is so important as good relations between Britain and the United States."

Coming at this time, these utterances contain a special significance. Both, on the face of them, are inspired by the agreement signed between Britain and the United States at the recent disarmament conference in London. Both seek to carry forward the work of understanding started there. They indicate that all the fruits of the conference, and of Premier MacDonald's visit to President Hoover at his Rapidan camp, did not appear immediately. More important even than the agreement on armaments is the evident improvement in relations between the two countries. The conference seems to have done far more good than was credited to it at its close. It has set minds on both sides of the ocean working in a closer spirit of sympathy and co-operation than has existed since the war.

In a broader sense the statements of Mr. Ochs and Mr. Hearst reflect the changing attitude of the United States towards Britain. After the war, our neighbor, partly through its historical and instinctive fear of European entanglements, partly at the instigation of selfish politicians, adopted an attitude of extreme isolation. It refused to join the League of Nations; it refused to sign any treaty guaranteeing any European frontier or interest; and finally it erected around itself a towering tariff wall which few products could scale.

The emergence of the United States from its post-war isolation, however, was first seen in the Kellogg Pact, then in the decision of the government to favor the entry of the country into the World Court. Now it is still more apparent in the views of such men as Mr. Ochs and Mr. Hearst, the latter of whom was the chief advocate of utter isolation after the war, and the most of his life has been antagonistic to everything British.

The attitude of the United States, in the face of Europe's chaos at the war's close, was easy to understand. Its present movement in the other direction is inevitable. All its experience in the last ten years—the cost of maintaining ever-increasing armaments, the desire to uphold permanent world peace, the impossibility of selling goods to other nations and buying none in return—has shown the United States that, at one of the greatest forces in our civilization it cannot cut itself loose from civilization's problems. In seeking greater co-operation with the British Empire, it is following the lessons of history—the dictates of good business and the instincts of race.

WHEN DOES IT START?

AMONG ALL THE REMARKABLE AN-

ouncements of the last Shelly budget, none was more interesting to the taxpayers, business men and municipal governments of British Columbia than the promise that the government, during this year, would survey the whole field of provincial taxation and redistribute taxes on an entirely new basis of equity. The existing system, said Mr. Shelly in his budget speech, was top-heavy, bearing too heavily on the land, and must be drastically overhauled. How much importance the government attached to this announcement we do not know, but certainly to the province as a whole it was one of the most important utterances made by the government since it came into office. To the municipalities it was of particular interest, and in view of this promise they allowed the government to limit their share of provincial liquor profits and other revenues with little protest. Had there been no prospect of sweeping changes in the whole system of taxation this year, largely to relieve land owners, the government's unexpected interference with municipal income would not have been tolerated without a struggle by every municipal council in the province.

The Legislature prorogued nearly three months ago. In seven months it will meet again, and in the business of government time has a peculiar aptitude for traveling fast. Before we realize it, the third session of the present House will be upon us. But so far no word has come from the government to indicate that anything is being done about the promised survey and redistribution of taxation.

AN INEFFECTIVE GESTURE

about clad in Grecian robes and sandals as a means of expressing his disapproval of modern industrial civilization, drew a curious crowd when he went down to the Battery in New York City the other day, dipped a bucket of salt water from the harbor, and carried it home to make some salt as a gesture of sympathy for Mahatma Gandhi.

Of practical, utilitarian value the stunt had nothing whatever. As a gesture, it is probably reasonable; but one doubts, somehow, if the whole thing will make very much impression anywhere.

A New York newspaper irreverently suggests that some Englishman now ought to distill a flask of alcohol from potato peelings and send it to some American scowfellow who is in jail for violating the prohibition law; and it is probable that Mr. Duncan's act will arouse more popular comment of this nature than sympathy for the Indian dreamer.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

ON ELECTION PROSPECTS

The Hamilton Herald

There is a much greater probability of Premier King increasing his majority than of Mr. Bennett robbing him of any of his support.

Apart from the budget, which has given general satisfaction, there have been many measures carried by the government and policies advanced which have made friends throughout the Dominion. The great success of the government was in the stable administration that was provided, and at once recognized after the election of 1928. This feature is one of vast importance to Canada and it will still count in the approaching election on July 28.

FOR WOMAN IN HOOVER CABINET

William Woodford in The New York World

Will President Hoover break away from American precedent and appoint to his cabinet a woman to succeed Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, who, because of his recent primary victory in Pennsylvania, seems slated to enter the United States Senate?

Will that woman be Miss Grace Abbott, head of the Children's Bureau of the Department of Labor, and as such Secretary Davis's "right-hand man"? These are questions which are being asked in government circles. The woman in government employ would consider a presidential appointment of Miss Abbott as a "master political stroke." The president, although it is never certain with Mr. Hoover, may follow the advice of William Green and other responsible officials of the American Federation of Labor in the matter of choosing the successor of "Fuddler Jim."

UNEMPLOYMENT

The New York Evening Post

Now that the United States has shared an experience common to so many European countries in recent years, it is beginning to take the question of unemployment more seriously. It can judge the predicament into which England has fallen with genuine sympathy.

A THOUGHT

Let not sin therefore reign in your mortal body, that ye should obey it to the lusts thereof.—Romans VI 12.

There is no harder work in the world than sin—South.

Loose Ends

There are guinea pigs in Parliament—which seems a good idea—but not in this abandoned country—the guinea pigs in Roumania continue to go on—and a Senator says something worth while.

By H.E.W.

NOT LONG AGO in the British

House of Commons, where members are allowed to be much ruder than they are in our less enlightened Legislature, Mr. Snowden, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, becoming annoyed at something Mr. Oliver Stanley was saying, exclaimed testily: "Guinea pig." This would have been entirely out of order here, and probably would have been retracted, but over there it was considered quite all right, as it should be. A little later Mr. Stanley was visiting his own constituency and the playful comments presented him with a large Easter egg, inside of which were two guinea pigs. This has inspired other humorists in the Old Land to suggest that the fauna of the House of Commons should be enlarged, so that members might call one another something more worth while than guinea pigs. A kind of game of forfeits is proposed, under which an honorable member might be allowed to call another honorable member a pig or a lobster, on condition that he thereafter presented his opponent with a full-sized specimen of the species mentioned.

THE IDEA seems very sound and would add much to the profits of public life, but one fears it wouldn't work out very well in these barbarous regions. If honorable members here were allowed to address one another in this fashion, the gentlemen addressed would not profit by guinea pigs, hogs or crabs, as the members at Westminster. Instead, owing to our peculiar manner of speaking, they would be in receipt of a variety of animals and insects, highly interesting to the collector, but not desirable as household pets.

WHATEVER YOU may think of the remarkable going-on of the royal family of Roumania, you must admit one thing—they have a genius for publicity unexcelled since Julius Caesar. The first great press agent, unloaded his commentaries on the unimpressive Roman populace. For years now they have had more space in the newspapers than any family on the continent of Europe. If it isn't King Carol's interesting attachments, it is Queen Marie's idealism on women's fashions. Or if neither of them would serve, the press of the world has written up sob stories about former King Michael and how he was growing up to be such a democratic little fellow. And then there was always Queen Helena to fall back on and, as a last resort, Carol's brother has afforded endless delight of late by his quaint habit of driving his automobile into things.

QUARCELTY A week has gone by without some charming dispatch from Roumania, and this, when you come to think of it, is rather remarkable. You never hear anything about the other royal families of that exciting district, indeed, I for one am not aware of their names. For one reason, I suppose, that I don't know the names of any of them, except King Zog of somewhere-or-other, whose name intrigues me because I have a distorted sense of humor. Roumania is not a big country, as countries go, but it is better-known, because of its royal family, than any of the great powers. It is better-known because there is always a sentimental kind of interest among democratic peoples in the pomp of mediocrity. For a time books about imaginary kingdoms in Europe, whose princes did desperate and gallant things, were all the rage. Now that we have these things in real life it is no wonder that the world is Roumania conscious.

THE PRESS of the United States

seems to have such an uncompromising opinion of the United States Senate, particularly after its ovary of tariff-making, that it is almost a shock to read that anything good can come out of Washington. I have just read a speech by Senator Thomas D. Schell, of Minnesota, who is blind, and it is such a nice thing, such a contrast to that generally gloomy roar from the Capitol that I should like to illuminate the dismal records of this column by printing it in full. "Of course," the blind Senator concluded, "I would like to see, but after twenty-one years of darkness I would not trade the understanding that has come to me for the eyes in the world. As the years have passed I feel that I have had a clearer vision and a keener insight into the real problems of life than if I had been able to see. Where other men are distracted by what they see I have been able to concentrate. The removal of the sight throws a determined man back upon his mind or his understanding. He will see and hear and understand the things that are denied to mere sight. For his mind reaches into solitude, whence comes meditation, contemplation, insight and inspiration, for he is so used to adversity that he knows how to bear disappointment and make the best of life." That, I think, gives you an idea of American politicians which you would overlook if you observed only their practical politics.

WASHING SHIELDS

Shields can be kept fresh and made to wear long by the following method of laundering: Place them flat, brush them with tepid soap suds on both sides. Soak up and down in clear running water to which a little ammonia has been added. Press, but do not wring. Hang over the line and allow to drip dry. Do not iron.

New Torpedo Ship, To Be Unsinkable Invented By Waiter

Waiter's Special to The Victoria Times

London, June 13.—A model of what is claimed to be an unsinkable ship is shaped like a torpedo. The nose is the prow, the barrel the hull. The inventor, Charles Quaschnewski, waiting in a London hotel, says "I will be impossible to sink any vessel built on this principle, except by an explosion big enough to blow her to pieces. The hull is surrounded by a shell containing compressed air or gas, shut off in a number of compartments. If any of these compartments are ripped by a collision or other accident, the remainder will keep the vessel afloat."

In addition, this "shell" revolves on swivels, so that when waves beat against it their force is greatly reduced by striking a non-resisting surface. In consequence, even in heavy weather there will be very little motion in the boat, the floor of the cabin remaining almost horizontal.

HOW THE IDEA ORIGINATED

Mr. Quaschnewski is a native of Poland, but has lived in England for twenty-five years. He has always been a waiter, and has never had anything to do with ships or the sea.

Relating how he first came to think about his invention, he said: "The idea first came to me after the Vestris was wrecked off the coast of America. It seemed terrible that we had never been able to build a boat that was unsinkable. At first, I intended my invention to be used only as a life-boat, but I think now it might very well be used for small craft, such as launches, speed-boats, and even for the smaller class of steamer, such as those used on our cross-channel services. Whether or not, the principle will ever be suitable for large vessels, I cannot say, as I am not an engineer."

"For over a year I have been working on the model, and I spend every minute of my spare time on it. The first tests were made in the bath at home. The one drawback to the idea is that the boat will have no open decks, and must be ventilated by a special system. Passengers in the boat will be entirely shut in while they were aboard, the only windows being at either end of the vessel. That, however, seems to me no greater disadvantage than one suffers on board an airship. To set off against it there are absolute safety and perfect steadiness. I have a small electric battery to drive the model and to light up the interior."

RUBBER

To the Editor:—An interesting item appears in your columns from the New York Automotive Daily News about England's attempt to restrict the output of rubber so that the government could get a reasonable return on their invested capital. What is the United States tariff for but this? The United States, being large consumer of rubber, resented England's action and immediately planted rubber. Then naturally would resent any country doing anything like this. The United States capitalists found more profitable use for their capital than raising rubber at a loss. That was fit work for some other country.

It is very interesting to recall that at this time a United States Congressman called attention to the fact that whereas the increased price of rubber in a certain time cost the United States maker only six dollars, the maker increased his price by twenty-five dollars. When the United States plantations are producing rubber, it will be found that some means will be employed to make the operation profitable for the United States capitalist, probably by allowing it to free with a heavy duty on that produced by other countries.

ALL IN THE FAMILY, ANYHOW, SO THEY SPLIT THE $149,000

It was a house divided against itself when $149,000 dropped down out of a clear sky for the Dougherty family, pictured above, in Brooklyn, New York. The winning ticket in the English Derby sweepstakes of the Army and Navy Veterans of Canada was made out in the name of Edward P. Dougherty, nineteen, lower right, a $20-a-week stock clerk in a brokerage firm. But his father, Daniel Dougherty, left, an apartment house doorman, claimed the prize money, saying he gave Edward the dollar to buy the ticket. Dan Jr., upper right, another son, claimed a fifty-cent half interest in the ticket. It finally was agreed to split the $149,000 three ways.

Metchosis

A most enjoyable and successful garden party was held at "Woodside," the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Pierce, in aid of the funds of the Women's Auxiliary of St. Mary's Church.

Many guests were present and enjoyed the beautiful gardens which are gay with roses, peonies, delphiniums, columbine, and many summer flowers. The wind being chilly, tea was served in the house, the reception rooms being decorated artistically with roses, sweet peas and blue and yellow Spanish iris. The committee in charge consisted of Mrs. H. M. Bolton, Mrs. Luky, Mrs. Osborne, Mrs. Weir, Mrs. Jordan and Miss Blythe, who were assisted in serving the many guests by the Misses Nora Helgesen, Valerie Elwood, Barbara Johnson and Gwyneth Meredith Jones. A number of well constructed window boxes, made and donated by George Clarke, were on sale during the afternoon.

Mrs. Fergus Reid was in charge of the ice cream stall which was well patronized and soon sold out.

A centre of great interest was clock golf, the ladies' prize being won by Miss Frances Tremayne with a score of 26, and the gentlemen's prize by W. L. Whitney-Griffiths with a score of 24.

A meeting of the Badminton Club will be held at Croxly Farm, the home of Ronald Weir, to-day, at 8 p.m. All members are requested to attend.

Convicts' Escape Attempt Fails

Sacramento, Cal., June 13.—Lloyd Sampson and Ethan Allen McMahon, bank robbers, were recaptured at 4:30 yesterday afternoon hiding in a hole in the lower yard of Folsom Prison. They had lain there 147 hours, sustained only by a little food and candy and a meagre supply of water.

When discovered both were near exhaustion. They were immediately given water and food and then transferred to the prison infirmary.

Would Widen Lower End of Fort Street

A survey of Fort Street, between Douglas and Wharf Streets with a view to reducing the size of the sidewalk and permitting greater safety for traffic is sought by the police commission in a recommendation to the city council passed at yesterday's meeting of the board.

Commissioner W. E. Stansell moved the resolution, pointing out the increasing traffic congestion on the narrow thoroughfare and stressing need for alleviation of the situation. An estimate of the cost of such work was also asked.

Installation of sidewalks at Oak Bay junction on the north and south sides of the west apex is also sought by the board.

After consideration of a request from Rev. W. G. Wilson, it was decided to have a slow sign put on Angus Street, at the intersection of St. Charles.

Permission for building of service station runways at Quadra and Johnson Streets, and Moss and Fairfield Road, was granted.

New and beautiful are the fine cotton sheets with colored roses printed on them. They come in pink, yellow, and blue and with both sheets and pillow cases in the printed design.

CULTURAL LIFE OF NEGRO TOPIC

Authors' Association Hears
Address by Rev. J. K.
Unsworth

"The Cultural Life of the American Negro" was the subject of an interesting address given by Rev. J. K. Unsworth before the Victoria and Islands branch of the Canadian Authors' Association at its meeting yesterday evening in Victoria College. Donald A. Fraser arranged the programme, and Dr. A. O. MacRae, the president, was in the chair.

Dr. Unsworth traced the amazing progress of the negro from his emancipation from slavery in 1865. The negro population of the United States is greater than the population of the whole of Canada. From ninety per cent illiteracy to twenty per cent is a great advance, and Dr. Unsworth paid tribute to the vast strides in education and to the fact that there are 3,500 negro physicians. In their fine poetry the infinite capacity for patience and suffering is made manifest. Dr. Unsworth read Countee Cullen's poem "Simon of Cyrene," which thrilled his audience. The art and music of the negro were dealt with in the same delightful manner. In the drama Paul Robeson's "Othello" now being played in London, the best characterization in forty years, was applauded. Two recitations, "Roadways" by John Massfield, and "In the Woods," by Frederick O. Scott, were very acceptably given by Victoria Ebe-Canavan, of the B.C. Dramatic School, and formed a pleasing interlude between addresses.

B.C. FIELD FOR WRITERS
John Hoste, Provincial Librarian and Archivist, in his subject, "Some Un- touched Fields for the B.C. Writer," gave so much of interest and value that a further conference was promised. The treasure house of the Provincial Archives, which is open to the public and for the benefit of writers especially was shown to be filled with material of the most fascinating character. Ethnologists and anthropologists had made good use of the materials at hand, but the human interests had scarcely been touched. C. C. Farnsworth, in thanking Mr.

Hoste for the valuable address and his suggestions and inspirations to writers, recalled that the Island of Vancouver had been so named at the request of the Spanish to commemorate peace, and that at the suggestion of V. L. Denton the memorial at Gonzales Hill bears the Spanish and British flags. Reference was made to the diary of Mrs. Barclay, a remarkable document from which Miss Perry had been inspired to write some articles which have been well received. Miss Carol Menzies, contralto, delighted the audience with two solos, "Ships That Pass in the Night" and "The Four-leaf Clover." Mrs. J. R. Angus, secretary, read several communications of interest to the members.

The president, Dr. A. O. MacRae, read a letter from the national secretary outlining the policy of the association and the ways in which it may be of assistance to writers in protecting their interests in matters relating to copyrights, as well as its main objective, to improve the standard of Canadian literature.

Mrs. Mary H. Rathorn was congratulated upon the acceptance of her poem in the recent competition held by the humane journal, "Our Dumb Animals," published in Boston. Miss Eugenie Perry brought to the attention of the meeting the recent loss to Canadian art in the death of Robert Holmes, foremost Canadian floral artist, who was born in Nanaimo, B.C., over eighty years ago, devoted his long life to this beautiful quest in which he met with marked success, winning his R.C.A. and D.S.A.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Mrs. Frances McCurrach and Miss Mary McCurrach of Vancouver, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Baines, Newport Avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Leister and their niece, Miss Betty Scherer, will leave Victoria this evening by the St. Prince's Victoria for Seattle en route to Europe, where they will spend the next six months. They will travel from Seattle over the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway east, and will sail from New York on June 21 by the Holland-America liner Statendam.

The christening of the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Sherratt, 2384 Empire Street, took place at St. John's Church on Sunday morning. Rev. Canon F. A. P. Chadwick, assisted by Rev. Montague Bruce, officiated. The child received the names Sydney Robert Anderson, the godparents being Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jordan and Mr. T. Frampton Chavallier.

Held Silver Tea.—A very successful silver tea was held at the home of Mrs. Thomas Allan, 1433 Bay Street, Tuesday. Thanks are extended to Mrs. Trail of Vancouver, who very kindly gave her services for readings and answering questions, and to whom much of the success was due. The affair was under the auspices of the Society for Psychic Research.

YOUR BABY and MINE

Mrs. Ender will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will elicit a prompt reply.

SCIENTIFIC DATA PROVES BREAST MILK BEST INFANT FOOD

A recent article on the superiority of breast over bottle feeding brought a host of dissenting letters from readers whose personal experience had been to the contrary. This is a natural attitude for them to take but, without a most unscientific one. Conclusions based on two or three cases about which a reader knows personally are not especially valuable. The conclusions about the superiority of breast feeding to bottle feeding from practically every angle are not "not my personal opinions but are scientific data gathered in a most impersonal way."

It would be a strange commentary on the human being if it were true that the fluid particularly designed for her young could be inferior to the fluid the cow and goat provide. If it were so proved by experience, we would just have to accept that strange fact. However, it never has been so proved.

BETTER FOR BABY

Information secured after the death of infants less than one year old resulted in the discovery that twice as many of these infants were bottle fed as breast fed.

We know that breast milk is the right temperature and that its elements are so proportioned to be far better suited to the baby's digestion than cow's milk formulas, however cleverly modified.

We must also realize that breast ter, assisted the hostess in receiving the guests, who wandered through the beautiful old garden prior to partaking of tea in the house.

Mrs. Hopkins and Mrs. D. R. McIntyre poured tea, the table being centred with a bowl of deep red roses. Assisting were Mrs. D. W. Burnett, Mrs. Wrigleyworth, Mrs. William Egan, Mrs. Kippen, Mrs. C. Lorne Campbell and Miss Doreen Drummond-Ray. Home-made candy was sold by Mrs. Phipps.

During the tea hour Miss Ransman arranged a musical programme, which was greatly enjoyed. Mrs. Percy Walters sang "Roses of Picardy," Mrs. H. Noel, "The Spring" and "A Dream," accompanied at the piano by Miss Brumpton, and Geraldine and Gwendolyn, two charming little pianists, played Brahms' "Hungarian Dance" and "The Hummel's Parade" (Lohengrin).

Miss Frances Farquhar and Master Logan Jordan gave a violin duet, which was much appreciated. Mrs. J. M. Newcomb was in charge of the gate receipts.

Many guests attended the delightful garden party held yesterday afternoon at "Dingley," the home of Mrs. Drummond-Ray, Gorge Road, in aid of the funds of Camosun Chapter, I.O.D.E. Mrs. A. E. Hopkins, regent of the chapter.

"UP" CHILDREN AT SOLARIUM TO HAVE TREAT

Capt. J. W. Troup to Take Them For Cruise To-morrow;
Picnic at Butchart's

To-morrow promises to be a red-letter day in the lives of the "up" children of the Queen Alexandra Solarium, for they are to be entertained at an unusual treat by Capt. J. W. Troup and Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Butchart.

At 9:30 o'clock the up-children, the name designated for the little patients whose injuries do not confine them to bed, will be called for by Capt. Troup on his fine yacht, the "Cruiser," and taken for a cruise in the waters of Saanich Arm and through the adjacent islands. After the trip on the water, he will take his little charges to Tod Inlet, where Mr. Butchart will meet them with cars and convey them to the gardens at "Benvenuto," where they will enjoy a picnic lunch in the open air, returning later by boat to the Solarium.

The children have been looking forward with eager anticipation to the outing. As there is much sorrow among the little bed patients, whose condition does not permit of their transportation, so that their natural sense of disappointment at watching their more fortunate companions leave on Capt. Troup's boat will be somewhat alleviated by the thought of the treat in store for them.

Hospital Board Meets at Duncan

Duncan, June 13.—The board of directors of the King's Daughters' Hospital met at the hospital on June 10. Those present were: W. H. Elington, chairman; Mrs. L. H. Hardie, Mrs. Stewart, Mrs. R. A. Playfair, Victoria; Mesdames F. Price, L. C. Brockway, J. H. Whitcombe, H. Fry, E. P. Miller, Miss Wilton, R. C. Coates, municipality of North Cowichan; Miss C. E. Jackson, lady superintendent; N. R. Craig, secretary.

The financial report showed receipts of $7,224.47 and expenditure of $3,115.20. Accounts for payment totaled $4,585.00. The earnings for the month of May were $3,800.90.

The lady superintendent's report of work done during the month showed 91 patients admitted, 96 discharged, 1419 days' treatment, average 15.7 services: Surgical 68, medical 38, obstetrical 11, infectious 1, births 4, deaths 1. Operations: Major 3, minor 58, anaesthetics: General 32, local 10, out patients 29. X-ray pictures taken 68, physiotherapy 14, massage 85.

The nurses are holding a garden fête in the hospital grounds on Thursday afternoon, June 26, the proceeds of which will be used to purchase operating room equipment.

Miss Wilson stated in her house committee report that at the linen shower held at Mereside some 300 articles were received. Recommendations for repairs to the roof on the men's wing were made, and this work will be carried out as soon as possible.

A donation of $50 for a cubicle in the children's ward was received from the Speedwell Circle of King's Daughters, but it will be necessary to make some alteration in the heating arrangements before anything is done. It was thought that an appeal to the public for donations of any surplus vegetables might bring results of benefit to the hospital.

The new sterilizers are now on order, and it is hoped to have them installed at an early date.

HOME PLAY-YARDS

Keeping the children at home and happy in vacations is a problem. Why not turn the backyard into a play place? Swing a couple of auto tires from the trees, on ropes, instead of merely having swings with seats. Make a little sandpile for the babies. Turn a piano box or two upside down and let the older children make a house. You will be surprised how the children love to stay home!

Max Schmeling Wins World's Heavyweight Title On Foul

THE SPORTS MIRROR

WITH THE world's professional golf championship at stake Leo Diegel, professional of the Agua Caliente Golf Club, will meet Abe Mitchell, veteran British pro-to-morrow. The match will be played over the St. Alban's course in London. The encounter will be the third and deciding one between the two professional champions of United States and Great Britain, respectively.

Diegel left Agua Caliente early this spring for England. He and Mitchell have met twice. Diegel won the first engagement 1 up in 36 holes, but Mitchell came back to square matters at his second meeting with a 3 and 2 victory over 36 holes.

Diegel has won the championship of the U.S. Professional Golfers' Association two years running to place him as king of the American pros. Mitchell won both the British and Irish professional championships last year. The series of matches which will end Saturday were arranged through the efforts of British golf critics to determine the world's championship.

The final match between Diegel and Mitchell will be played just two days prior to the start of the British open, which is to be played over the Hoylake course June 16-21. Both champions will compete in the historic British classic, along with Bobby Jones, newly crowned British amateur champion, and a host of others.

While there won't be a horse of the class of Victorian winner of the Trophée Handicap showing his wares at the summer meeting of the Agua Caliente Golf Club that starts July 4, for a fifty-two day season, nevertheless there is going to be plenty of "class" to race in the state's premier overnight handicap. Among those present will be representatives of the establishments of Baron Long, Hamilton P. Cotton, La Brea Stable, John McKean's Meadowbrook Stable, Farn, Stewman and Crofton's Agua Caliente Stable, Don Cameron, C. B. Irwin, Aljo Carroliro Stable, L. T. Whitehall and many others.

The Baron Long Stable has three threats for stakes in active training and now ready for action. They are: Ervatt, sensational development of 1929, now four years old, and back in race form; Harkick, termed by many judges to be the best three-year-old seen at the southern track last winter, and the sprinter Norah, a brother of the sensational New York winner, Judge Schilling.

The Agua Caliente Stable has issued orders for the shipment of their dazzling two-year-old Up, from New York. Up was purchased from Admiral Cary T. Grayson, by the Agua Caliente manager, for $10,000 in April. Since then he has won three races in Maryland and at Belmont Park, including a stake at Pimlico. He is one of the best youngsters thus far shown, under colors.

It hasn't been a year since Howard Ehmke was a great man, the hero of the hour. He pitched an amazing game in a world series. His surprising pitching may have been the factor that turned the series tide for the Philadelphia Athletics in that first game in Chicago.

Now Connie Mack says Howard is still through, his arm completely gone. But the asking of waivers on Ehmke has a deeper significance than merely marking the passing of a man who no longer can make the grade. It means that Connie Mack realizes that he is facing a fight to hold the top of the American League this year with the pitching staff as it was in 1929.

An inquiring reporter asked Sam Jones the other day if he believes the Washington Senators, for whom Sam pitches a couple of innings now and then, could stand up to Mack's staff.

"The second division clubs are the ones that are hard for us to beat," said Sam Jones.

"But those Mack pitchers—aren't they pretty tough?"

"How?" was the reply Jones made to this question. "Three pitchers are not enough. Grove, Barnshaw and Walberg are good, but Mack needs more. And it looks like Connie can't even depend on these three. Barnshaw won't stand any overwork. Barnshaw hasn't been going this year. Neither has Walberg. You have to have five or six regular pitchers. Washington has got 'em; the Athletics haven't."

Which throws light on Mack's asking of waivers on Ehmke. Mr. McGilchrist, who has been in the game for a couple of pitchers.

Snap judgment seems to indicate that John McGraw of the New York Giants and Bucky Harris of the Detroit Tigers got much the best of their recent trades.

Benton and Pat Crawford to Cincinnati for Pete Donohue, Ethan Allen and Hughie Critz. Bucky Harris gave Harry Rice, Owen Carroll and "Weenie" Wuestling to the New York Yankees for Wally Hoyt and Mark Koenig. But what appears to be a benefit may turn out to be just another kick in the pants.

Donohue and Benton look to be an even trade. The money it appears that Critz and Allen have been traded for Pat Crawford, a utility man who is a good hitter, jack of all trades and a master of none. It seems to be a great bargain for McGraw, who badly needs a man like Critz, who is going to win with him, and Dan Howey does with Pat Crawford before passing judgment on the deal finally.

Howey took a seventh place St. Louis Browns team, bought one, why tickets for 17 of its players and found up in the first division the following year. Dan doesn't go around with his eyes closed.

German Falls Writhing In Agony When Sharkey Punches Low In Fourth

Wild Confusion at Yankee Stadium When Heavyweight Bout Comes to Dramatic Ending; Referee Crowley Makes Decision After Judge Declares Blow Was Unquestionably Low.

SCHMELING MAY NOT BE AWARDED COVETED TUNNEY-MULDOON TROPHY

Sharkey Refuses to Say Anything as He Is Led in Dejection From Ring; Boston Gob Had Decided Edge Before Disappointing Ending; German's Seconds Use Smelling Salts and Ice Between Third and Fourth Rounds.

By ALAN J. GOULD, Associated Press Sports Editor
New York, June 13.—In a sudden and bewildering finish, Max Schmeling was proclaimed the victor over Jack Sharkey yesterday evening on a foul in the last few seconds of the fourth round of a fifteen-round match that failed dismally in its object of crowning an undisputed heavyweight champion of the world.

MAX SAYS HE WOULD HAVE BEATEN JACK

New Heavyweight Champion Declares He Was Stalling Around For Six Rounds

Will Give Jack Chance For Revenge; Sharkey Says He Was Playing With Max

New York, June 13.—Max Schmeling was a sick and none too happy fighter as he lay on a rubbing table in his dressing room yesterday evening and regretted he won from Jack Sharkey on a foul.

Schmeling's groin was packed in cracked ice and he appeared sick and miserable. Dr. William Walker of the State Athletic Commission completed his examination and announced the German heavyweight was suffering from a sprain in the left scrotum, indication of a severe blow in that region.

"I hate to win like that," said Max, as his handlers lifted him up and rubbed him with alcohol. The only marks on the German were slight swellings of both eyebrows, mute indications of the punches Sharkey threw into his head for three and a fraction rounds, only to lose on a foul in the fourth.

"For three rounds," continued Max, "I let Sharkey punch so I could find out what he was. He could not hurt me. He is not so good a fighter as I thought. I could feel him change in the fourth. He looked different to me and I knew then I would beat him. I had planned to see what he had for six rounds because I know he is best then, and after that not so good."

"You say I looked badly hurt in the second and third rounds. That is not strange. I felt good all the time. Sharkey could not hurt me. I looked around when he hit me in the third round and I saw everyone watching. I am not dazed."

ANOTHER LOW BLOW
"In the third round Sharkey swung low, but I caught the punch on my right glove," said to Sharkey, "he caught me."

"He did not answer me. That is funny, I think to myself. This fellow they told me talks all the time in the ring."

When Sharkey crossed the ring to Schmeling in the delicious moments that followed the incapacitating blow, and just before the decision was announced, Max told the sailor he was anxious to fight him.

"I am very sorry to win this way," he told Sharkey. "I will give you revenge," he said in his broken English. "We fight again, yes."

The Boston sailor marched into his dressing room, brushing aside the condolences tossed his way en route by policemen and common citizens. Once in the room he smashed one hand into the other, gloved and ungloved, and said softly, "I would rather have lost every fight I ever fought than this one to-night."

PLAYING WITH MAX
He stared blankly around the room, went to his locker, sat down on a bench before it and held his head in his hands. Then a horde of newspaper men swept in on him.

"What have you to say, Jack?" they demanded.

"His eyes flitting with tears, he shook his head.

"You've got to say something," they insisted.

"Well," he said, quietly, "I don't think much of Schmeling's ability as a fighter. He was playing along with me. I was positive I could have knocked him out any time I wanted to. It was like a game of tag and he was it."

Sharkey then turned to his manager, Johnny Buckley, and mildly asked, "Couldn't you have done something?" The perspiring Buckley, hoarsely shouted, "Jack, I done everything I could do. What was there to do?"

fight gamely against a more experienced rival, but his victory was an accident on the basis of what happened in the ring.

There was no doubt about Schmeling being badly hurt. He was in bad shape in his dressing room, half-conscious after the bout and the examination of the official boxing commission physician, Dr. Wm. Walker, disclosed a "definite sprain" in the left scrotum. The doctor said, indicated Max had been hit a powerful blow in that region.

Up to the foul blow adding a fresh chapter to controversial ring literature, the only exciting moments of the fight were crowded into the third round as Sharkey, with cool mastery and vicious thrusts, punched Schmeling all over the ring. The young German kept his feet under a heavy volley of rights to the head, lefts to the jaw and ribs, but was badly hurt, groggy and on the verge of a knockout.

They had sparred for the first two rounds with little to choose as Schmeling boxed on close to even terms with his heavier and more experienced opponent, but the American cut loose in the third as if intent on a quick finish. Solidly smashed Schmeling with his powerful right. Twice, as the German gamely rushed in, Sharkey ripped left hooks to the body that almost lifted him off the floor as they doubled him up in pain. At the same time Sharkey showed a healthy respect for Max's right and fought with cool wariness, regained command as he cut off an out-buffed Max. It was as they swung into a clinch that Sharkey delivered the left hand blow, intended for the mid-section, but falling inches short, and in distinctly foul territory.

For a few moments as confusion swept the ring, it appeared Schmeling was to be counted out.

MUCH CONFUSION
The bell for the end of the round sounded, however, and Crowley began his confused search for a verdict, as both managers shouted demands and defiance for a verdict. So great was the confusion the timekeeper lost track of his watch and no official could say exactly how much longer the fourth round had to go, when the final blow landed.

The consensus was the round had less than ten seconds to go.

The fight, biggest boxing extravaganza New York has had in two years, drew a dazzling gathering of notables to the ring-side, while the National Broadcasting Company's elaborate international hook-up, the ringside disorder was broadcast to millions.

On the basis of a paid attendance in excess of 70,000 the promoters of the bout, held for the benefit of the Children's Milk Fund, drew a gate estimated at $740,000, making it the sixth largest in fight history and the third largest in New York. Only the Dempsey-Tyrp and Dempsey-Sharkey bouts exceeded this figure here.

FIGHT PRELIMS

New York, June 13.—In the semi-final of the Sharkey-Schmeling heavyweight bout, waged after the main bout, Al. Fry, of Charleroi, Penna., pounded out a victory over George Hoffman of New York, in ten mauling rounds.

Fry gained the decision in a fight that found both cut and bleeding at the finish. The winner weighed 192½ and Hoffman 182.

Henry Lamar, Washington, D.C., heavyweight, won an eight-round decision over Matteo Osa, Spain, in a slow bout that preceded the main event. Lamar weighed 186, Osa 180. There were no knockdowns.

In a bloody six-rounder, Stanley Fore, Jersey City, sparring partner of Max Schmeling, battered out a decision over Raul Bianchi, big heavy-footed Argentine.

Fore rolled up a big lead on points, cut Bianchi's face into gory ribbons and won the unanimous decision of the referee and two judges. There were no decisive knockdowns, but Bianchi twice half stumbled to the floor for the first round, played yesterday, the referee counted after still shot to the jaw and on the other occasions each rolled to the canvas after mix-ups. Fore weighed 196 and Bianchi 212½.

In the first preliminary Ralph Giucello, 198-pounder from Long Island City, scored a technical knockout over Peter Brand of Holland, 169, in the third round.

The referee stopped the bout after the Dutchman had been floored twice for counts of nine.

Completion of to-day's play in the Kingston Street tennis championships will see the finals reached in all events. Four more semi-finals will be decided to-day.

Yesterday evening's matches for the most part were semi-finals and the best play of the week was produced. Gerald Cunningham and Bob Schwengers indulged in a free and hard hitting contest and Cunningham got the last shot back in nearly every case to secure a 6-3, 6-2 victory. Both players were hitting tremendous shots with little regard for the size of the court and some beautiful rallies resulted. Cunningham is now in the singles final and will meet Ross Hocking, defending champion.

Sieve Jones played good tennis against Hocking in their semi-final and had his opponent on the defensive for the first set with well-placed volleys and hard forehand drives. Jones won the first set 6-3, but with the start of the second set Hocking took the situation in hand and ran off eight successive games before losing his next and match at 6-3. Jones played good tennis in the first set but did not show nearly so well in the closing two sets. The scores were 3-6, 6-0, 6-3.

SPRING PAST
Maxine Ewart and Tommy Forbes occupied the limelight with a three-set win over Gertrude Hickey and Lionel Huxtable, who were highly touted to reach the final. The winners played in the closest set of the three, but the second set went to 6-3 and the last 6-4.

Margie Harris and Bill Gelling applied a stiff punch to Betty Harris and Arthur Burgess in the mixed doubles when they defeated them 6-1, 7-5. Both sisters were hitting hard, but Margie got revenge for the defeat administered the night before by Betty.

Geordie and Freddie reached the semi-finals of the men's doubles by beating Truman and Peden in straight sets and now meet Jones and Schwengers to determine the finalists.

OUTSTANDING PLAYER
Maxine Ewart is the outstanding player to date in the tournament and bids fair to make the final round in all three events. She won her first match, the Harris family will contest the other bracket for the right to enter the last round. Ewart will meet Betty and odds are even. Betty generally wins, but Kay defeated Edith Severs early in the week and showed commendable form to conquer the former champion.

Burgess and Hocking meet Alexander and Perrin to-night in a semi-final doubles fixture and a good match should result, as the latter have defeated two strong combinations to reach the semi-finals and are given a good chance to win to-day.

Yesterday's results follow:
Hocking beat Jones, 3-6, 6-0, 6-3.
Cunningham beat Schwengers, 6-3, 6-2.

Good and Prentice beat Peden and Thomas, 6-4, 6-2.
Miss Ewart and Forbes beat Miss Hickey and Huxtable, 6-3, 6-4, 6-3.

Miss H. Harris and Gelling beat Miss B. Harris and Burgess, 6-1, 7-5.
Misses K. and B. Harris beat Miss Hood and Miss Cameron, 6-3, 6-3.

Miss M. Harris and Miss Ewart beat Miss Hughes and Miss Copas, 7-5, 6-3.
Miss Hickey and Miss Severs beat Miss Perriman and Miss Knappan, 6-1, 6-2.

Consolation Singles
Dolg beat Wright, 6-2, 6-2.

Perrin beat Walker, 6-0, 6-1.
Alexander beat Warburton, 3-6, 6-3, 6-0.

Miss Cameron beat Miss Bonavia, 6-0, 6-2.

TO MODERNIZE PENSION BODY

Local Association to Be Re-organized in Order to Cope With Present Conditions

At a round table conference held yesterday afternoon, the officers of the Canadian Pensioners' Association discussed the coming event known as the Pensioners' session to be held this evening at 8 o'clock at the headquarters branch, 720 Fishgard Street. All C.P.A. members are urged to attend.

Several new committees will be struck in order to cope with the growing demand for membership in this association. One of the foremost committees to be installed on the floor of the pensioners sessions will be the investigating committee. The duties of this body will be to investigate thoroughly all applications for membership into the C.P.A. This practice followed the expert advice received from the Dominion president, Frank O. McDonagh, who is one of the greatest pensioner welfare workers in the Dominion of Canada.

The great work of T. W. Gray, who has been acting as a member of the welfare committee, will be one of the headline topics this evening. Mr. Gray was recently appointed a director of the local branch. The local secretary, Jack Sangster, will present several worthy pension cases, that have been approved by the Board of Pension Commissioners. In several cases one hundred per cent has been granted and thousands of dollars have been recently granted in retroactive pension claims. The success of this was due to the plan of statutory evidence procedure used by this association.

Improvement Shown In All Divisions Of Victoria Y.M.C.A.

Reports Submitted at Annual Meeting of Local Association Show Institution in Better Condition in All Departments Than Ever Before; Tribune Paid to Ladies' Auxiliary for Outstanding Work During Year; Inspiring Address Given by Rev. W. G. Wilson.

General improvement in all departments of the Y.M.C.A. proved the keynote of the reports issued at the annual meeting of the association in the Y.M.C.A. yesterday evening. Financially a great step forward had been made in the last year, the chairman of the finance committee announced. While, through the activities of the ladies' auxiliaries, the dormitories and building in general had been greatly improved.

Opening the meeting, E. Tomlin, president of the association, paid tribute to the work of the late president, Mark W. Graham, whose place he had filled upon Mr. Graham's untimely death. He also expressed his gratitude at seeing Mrs. A. Walsh, president of the Y.W.C.A. members of the ladies' auxiliary, W. E. Stansfield, police commissioner, Alderman James Adams and Alderman Robert Smith, as well as many members of the clergy, present.

He thanked the representatives for the work their departments had done in helping the Y.M.C.A. paying particular tribute to the ladies' auxiliary an dthe city council for their valuable assistance.

DEBT REDUCED

At present the association had an indebtedness of only $4,400, and this Mr. Tomlin hoped to see wiped out in a short time. It was his desire to see the "Y" inaugurate an endowment fund of its own. It had been done before, Mr. Tomlin stated, and could be done again.

In conclusion he expressed his thanks to the directors and the executive staff for the excellent work they had performed during the year.

The balance sheet and finance report, showing the improvement in the standing of the association, was presented by E. M. McGregor. After giving figures included in his statement, Mr. McGregor added his tribute to that of Mr. Tomlin in thanking the various groups which had contributed to the success of last year. His report was adopted.

WOMEN'S AUXILIARY

Mrs. R. W. Mayhew, on behalf of Mrs. J. H. Fletcher, reported on the work of the ladies' auxiliary, saying that body had raised close to $1,000 during the year and hoped to exceed that amount in the near future. The auxiliary had done considerable work in improving the appearance of the Y.M.C.A. building and had succeeded in making the dormitories very attractive, she added. After itemizing the various expenditures made by the auxiliary, she expressed her appreciation for the co-operation received from all the members.

In a short address, Rev. W. G. Wilson, of the First United Church, spoke in glowing terms of the work done by the association.

Taking as his subject the "Value and Use of Time," the speaker noted that never in history had the world been speeded up to the present pitch. Yet time, despite all new devices to save it, was even scarcer than it had ever been before.

There was so much to do and such a little time to do it in that the chief objective of the man and woman of the present day was to select some field in which his or her endeavors would be of the greatest worth, he stated.

CHOOSING FINE FIELD

In devoting their time to the work of the Y.M.C.A., an institution whose value to the public was beyond question, the members of the board of directors and all interested in the association were choosing one of the finest fields in which they could work, he added.

During the evening, J. Townsend and Miss Grace Platt delighted the gathering with vocal solos. Miss Nora Sherwood assisted at the piano.

GENERAL REPORT

Activities of the Y.M.C.A. in all departments were outlined by Walter S. Maguire, general secretary, who reported on the work of the association as follows:

"In the boys division the group plan of organization was again used with fine adult leadership for each group. Much of the success in managing the boys' programme can be ascribed to the devotion and sacrifice of these leaders. The whole division was covered by as fine a programme as any previously offered by this department, and the response of the boys was such as to tax our capacity on many occasions. The value and importance of work with boys no longer needs a defence, the general acceptance of this idea being further instanced by the offer of the Gyro Club to sponsor a group of boys much as Bots and Kivania had been doing. The changed attitude of these boys within a few weeks of coming to us, has been a source of very keen gratification to leaders and staff and proves very convincingly the worth of the plan.

"The usual camp was held at Beaver Lake last year with seventy-five in attendance. Opening up Elk Lake Watershed as a Public Recreation Ground, however, has in the last few years, developed a situation which makes it increasingly difficult and unsatisfactory as a camp site. Facing these facts, the department committee has decided not to operate a camp this season, but will divert its attention and energy to the plan of park playground supervision for the city. This we believe, will be one of our finest contributions to the welfare of the city's children. Boys' division details published in the report in your hands make more extended reference unnecessary.

MEN'S DIVISION

"The men's section for obvious reasons, cannot be grouped just as we do the boys', but a programme with the same four-sided values for the satisfaction of social, physical, educational and inspirational needs, has been promoted to the enjoyment and benefit of the adult membership.

"The usual programme of classes for exercise, and clubs for swimming, wrestling, tumbling, basketball, football, etc., have been active and reached high levels in many sports in which open competition was followed.

"Two new organizations came into being in our senior section, both of which will be increasingly valuable as the months roll on. Under the presidency of Jim McPherson the 'Y' men conducted a very fine and diversified the programme for both boys and men. "Harold Beckwith continued for the third season the club for public speaking, which also had a most successful season.

The dormitory and cafeteria services are too well known to need more than passing comment. Rooms have been continuously well filled, revenue from this source being particularly well sustained.

"The cafeteria has been a most useful factor in catering for a wide variety and large number of club suppers and social affairs, and should, as well, be credited as a factor in keeping rooms occupied.

"The house committee has tried to keep the entire building as presentable as possible, a matter of almost $1,000 having been expended for maintenance. We believe our building to be as attractive as almost any association in the west.

MEMBERSHIP

"The stock market slump of last fall had a far-reaching effect, involving hundreds who had no direct dealings with the market. The result proved hardship to us, many men being unable to keep up subscriptions for themselves or membership for their boys.

Membership on April 30 was 345 seniors, 308 boys; a total of 653.

"This field has two aspects, service to non-membership groups, who come to the association building, and help to organizations and individuals outside. One of our largest opportunities for helpfulness comes just here.

"Almost fifty different organizations hold occasional or regular meetings here, these being representative of almost every type of interest—athletic, business, trades, social work, religious, etc.

"Through personal assistance of staff members in counsel, and by actively assisting, or by the association loaning equipment, we have included in our contacts, Sunday schools, churches, clubs and social groups, winning the cordial friendship of these.

"Possibly the outstanding service in this regard was the association's free swimming campaign for the boys of the city schools. Made possible by the warm co-operation of the school board, principals, teachers and the municipal inspector, we had the privilege of teaching about 350 boys the useful accomplishment of swimming.

"Active staff assistance has been given, or co-operation extended to Boys' Work Board, Religious Education Council, Tuxis Boys' Council, Ministerial Association, Provincial Boys' Parliament, Sunday School and City Basketball Association, Girl Guides, Boy Scouts, Model Airplane League, Amateur Athletic Union, Returned Men's Association, Saanich and City School Athletic Association, and other organizations.

"Special mention is made in this year's report to outstanding efforts of several individual members and teams whose skill or prowess has brought honors to themselves and the association.

"The 'Y' track team had a remarkable season, capping their efforts by winning no less than six provincial championships in a meet at Vancouver.

"The Swimming Club was also unusually successful. Allan Stewart winning a provincial senior diving championship and Dick Healy a junior provincial swimming championship.

While a team of four boys were runners-up in the association junior championship of the Pacific Northwest held at Everett. The swimming coach, Colin McPadden, is to be congratulated on the development of the club's swimmers.

"The basketball team won the city championship in its class, the baseball team were runners-up in a stiff league season, while the soccer team tied for city league honors in their division losing the play-off through a team weakened by injuries.

"Fred Loeffler—one of our boys—crossed to New Westminster for the provincial wrestling championships, returning with the championship gold medal in his class, and was also the winner of the G.W.V.A. road race, junior section. The senior race produced another 'Y' champion in Frank Aldous, Caesar Finemore of our club placing second.

Built for Many Thousands of Miles

THE new Ford has been designed and built to give you many thousands of miles of faithful, economical service. Beneath its flashing beauty of line and color—in those vital mechanical parts which you may never see—is a high quality of material and accuracy in manufacturing. The reliability and capable performance of the car, in all weather and under all conditions, make it a particularly good choice for constant use. It stands up under the added strain of bad roads and hard daily service in a way that has always been characteristic of the Ford car. The experience of the passing months and years will increase your satisfaction in its performance and confirm your first impression that it is a value far above the price.

"THE CANADIAN CAR"

Unusual Riding Comfort

ONE OF THE fine things about driving the new Ford is the way it takes you over the miles without strain or fatigue. No matter how long the trip, or rough or devious the highway, you know it will bring you safely, quickly, comfortably to the journey's end. The restfully tilted seats are generously wide and deeply cushioned. The backs are carefully designed to conform to the curves of the body.

Furthermore, every Ford car is equipped with four Houdaille double-acting hydraulic shock absorbers and special transverse springs. Even bad stretches may be taken at a reasonably fast pace without hard jolts or bumps or exaggerated bouncing. The steel-spoke wheels, three-point chassis suspension, torque-tube drive, and low unsprung weight also contribute to the easy-riding comfort of the Ford car.

Maintenance Cost Cut on Railroad

New York, June 13.—St. Paul Railroad expects to be able to save something on maintenance in the next few months, said Henry A. Scandrett, president of Chicago Milwaukee and St. Paul and Pacific Railroad Maintenance so far this year, has been about on a par with last year.

"In the next few months, however, we do not expect to spend as much on maintenance of way and structure as was necessary in the corresponding period of last year," he said.

"Crane loadings on the St. Paul so far in June are about the same as last year. Loadings of all other commodities are somewhat behind a year ago."

GARDEN CLUBS OF U.S.A. TO VISIT CITY IN JULY

Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Butchart to Entertain 250 Delegates at "Benvenuto"

City Plans Dinner at Empress in Compliment to Visitors

Outstanding among the groups which will visit Victoria during the coming summer will be the Garden Clubs of America, an organization of garden lovers and amateur gardeners which flourishes throughout the United States.

About 250 of its members from places as far distant as New York, will spend July 6 and 7 in the city, primarily to pay a visit to the continent-renowned gardens at "Benvenuto," and Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Butchart have been instrumental in inviting this important delegation to see for themselves what Victoria can produce in the way of gardens.

The visitors will arrive in Victoria on Sunday, July 6, and in the afternoon will journey to Tod Inlet to visit the beautiful gardens of "Benvenuto," which just then will be in all their summer array of roses, Mr. and Mrs. Butchart will conduct them through the gardens and entertain them at tea.

In the evening the city will entertain at a dinner at the Empress Hotel in compliment to the visitors. A special souvenir menu, containing pictures of beauty spots in and around the city is being prepared for the guests, and Mayor Anson will voice the city's welcome.

On Monday a brief visit will be made to other outstanding gardens in the city, after which the visitors will leave on the afternoon boat for Seattle.

BOOK SELLING METHODS START COURT ACTIONS

campaign was deceptive and ruled against the Chicago organization.

"SPECIALLY SELECTED"

The book-selling campaign method consisted of writing a letter to prospective customers informing them they have been specially selected to receive a free set of the encyclopedia for the consideration of writing a letter of approval after reviewing the books. They were asked, however, to subscribe to a research bureau service, supplementing the encyclopedia with a look-alike extension system at a cost of $60.00 over a period of ten years.

They were then asked to sign a note for the $60.00. The notes have since been turned over to the Standard Education Society of Chicago for value and action for collection has been started by the society.

In defending the suit for collection the purchasers of the service claim there were many misrepresentations by the book agents. The encyclopedia was not written from a Canadian viewpoint as stated they say. They claim it was "not just issued as represented, and that it was not a gift as they were told, they were asked to sign a note for $60.00, and the loss for extension for $60.00, whereas the public were offered for value and action for collection has been started by the society.

Further it is claimed the note was transferred to the Chicago society to be used for the charge of fraud, and the Winnipeg Bureau was agents for the Chicago Society, and are affected by the alleged misrepresentation of that bureau.

TO-DAY'S GRAIN MARKETS

(By Branson, Brown & Co. Limited)
Winnipeg, June 13.—Wheat: Firm with prices about 1/4 cent higher during the first period this morning, but later turned very weak, price breaking more than 3 cents from the high mark. The early strength was due more to the fact that there was very little for sale in the pit than to any good or extended buying, but some who had stayed short overnight were inclined to cover up with some reports of an improved export business, while general opinion was that some important areas in Saskatchewan did not receive sufficient moisture.

The weakness started in Chicago to-day, it being reported that there was heavy selling for southwest account, which was believed to be hedging sales. This market eased off in sympathy, finally running into a stoppage, selling, which uncovered very indifferent buying. Seaboard reported good export sales, estimated at 1,500,000 to 2,000,000 bushels, but very little of this business could be traced in this market, or around 100,000 bushels of 1 northern bought by Sweden.

The market sank through the daily bids which brought in a little support, but the full upturn was difficult to hold. There was only a moderate demand for cash wheat and spreads were practically unobtainable. Holders were not pressing sales and only a few lots were trading. Flour trade continues very quiet, both domestic and foreign accounts.

There were numerous showers the past twenty-four hours, but these were largely confined to northern areas of the western provinces and were not heavy, although Edmonton district had a twenty-hour rain, with rain falling at a few points this morning.

European weather appears to be favorable for the crops, but there is a possibility of rain in India are disappointing. Wheat closed 2 1/2, lower in all months and right on the bottom. The situation looks very bleak.

Coarse grains: These markets continue weak, especially oats and rye. There was liquidation on both the latter commodities, while the pressure was less severe on barley than it has been. The cash demand in the coarse grains was slow and only a few lots were traded. Oats closed 2 1/4, lower and rye 3 1/4, lower. Barley held firm despite the general weakness and closed 1 to 1 1/4 higher. Trade very light.

Dorothy Dix

CAN YOU bear it, girls? You are about to be reformed. And by whom, think you? By the boy friend himself. No less. Listen to this news item from the daily paper: "Better girls and improved dates is the object of a high school club that has recently been formed and that is composed of a hundred young men embittered with the modern flapper. Its purpose is to bring back those maidenly traits which are so rapidly disappearing from among girls, to stimulate a better and more lovable personality among women and to improve entertainment of club members."

Isn't that enough to sink you? I ask you, girls? And just when you had got so you could drink bootleg liquor without making faces and had acquired a sassy line of cuss words and could listen to a putrid story without squirming and had scrapped all of that old stuff your mother taught you about modesty and reserve and so on and you had developed into an 'A-1' petteer and prided yourself upon being hard-boiled.

Isn't it a hard break to find out that you have got the wrong line and that being tough isn't the way to make a hit with men after all? It is just gory, I mean. I mean it just goes to show that no matter how much you struggle and strive to try to please men you never can do it, and by the time you make yourself into what you think they want they are craving something different.

Goodness knows, not many of you have enjoyed all of this flaming youth business. You had no alcoholic complex and the vile concoction you drink out of hip flasks nauseated you physically and morally and you writhed at the thought of becoming one of the blousy, bleary, gin-soaked girls that you saw about you. Generations of pure, delicate-minded mothers have bred in you a reverence for your own bodies and it revolted you to have every Tom, Dick and Harry who took you out to the movies paw you over, and you shut your eyes so that you might not have to look at the coarse lips you had to kiss as payment for every attention from a boy.

You would have been glad enough to be sweet and modest for that was your natural inclination, but you couldn't if you wanted to be noticed by the boys. You had to go the pace or else be left behind sitting at home with mother and father and reading an improving book instead of being out having a big time with the crowd. Daintiness was the price of modesty, and there wasn't any use in being a shrinking violet when the only pay a man would wear in his buttonhole was a sunflower.

And so, in order to gain the favor of boys and to have dates and be popular, girls made themselves over to please the masculine taste and gave men what they asked of them, just as they have done since the beginning of time. The thought of becoming one of the blousy, bleary, gin-soaked girls that you saw about you. Generations of pure, delicate-minded mothers have bred in you a reverence for your own bodies and it revolted you to have every Tom, Dick and Harry who took you out to the movies paw you over, and you shut your eyes so that you might not have to look at the coarse lips you had to kiss as payment for every attention from a boy.

Now it appears that, having turned all the dear little sweeties into hoodlums, men are not pleased with the Frankenstein they have created and they want Maribel to get out of her knickers and back into white muslin and blue ribbons once more. It was fun to teach a girl how to drink, but not so amusing to think of having a chronic alcoholic for a wife and the mother of one's children. It was pleasant to hear a baby-faced girl swearing like a trooper, but a man didn't seem to feel somehow that he would get much kick out of having to listen to a woman with a vocabulary she had picked out of the gutter, telling him of his shortcomings across the breakfast table. It would save too much of a fish wife.

Of course, it was alluring to kiss every pretty girl he went out with and sit out in parked automobiles with her until all hours of the night or morning, but it left a bitter taste in a man's mouth when he thought about marrying a girl whose lips had been free to a thousand other men and who was more or less damaged goods that he had picked up on the sentimental bargain counter.

Of course, a man enjoyed the society of a girl who had up-to-date ideas about sex and the relationship of men and women and who laughed at the old, narrow superstitions about right and wrong and who didn't believe in anything much except getting the most we can out of life as we go along. But, somehow, while these girls were all right as playfellows, they were all wrong when one thought of them as wives. When a man thought of the woman he wanted to marry he didn't want one who was "wise" on the many side of life. He wanted one who was pure and innocent. He didn't want a girl who was blasé and cynical and iconoclastic. He wanted one who believed in God and who said her prayers and who had faith in everything that was tender and beautiful.

In a word, he wanted somebody like his mother. He wanted somebody who was loving and tender and unselfish and soft and sweet. He didn't want a rouser for a wife. Nor a street gamin. Nor even a girl who looked and acted like his little brother.

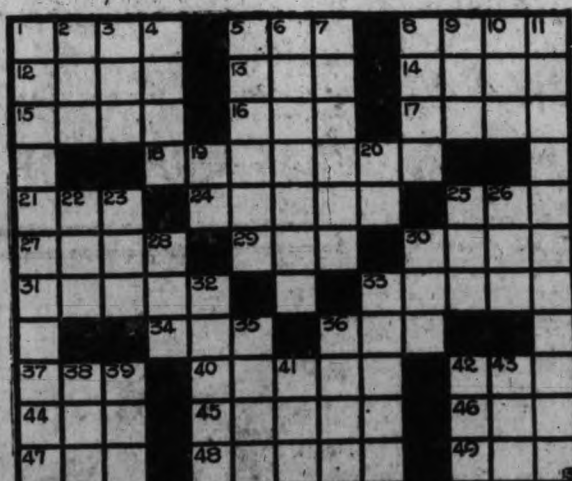

And there you are, girls. Men have reverted to type. They have gone back to their original ideal of womanhood. The bud with the dew still on it, not the full-blown rose that has been dragged through the heat of the day and handled by a hundred men and then tossed away.

It is the clinging vine they are going back to. The gentle, sweet, womanly woman, and so you had better begin getting ready to meet the new ideal, which is the eternal masculine ideal of womanhood and learn how to blush and be modest if you want to have dates.

UNIQUE PROGRAMME ARRANGED FOR AT COLISEUM THEATRE

A novel attraction will be presented to-morrow afternoon at the Coliseum Theatre preceding the screening of the Universal Classic "Showboat." This will take a special staging of a prologue "Southern Melodies," the plantation item which was such a success at the Dance Revue which was put on at the Royal last Saturday by Miss Louise Fisher, of the Russian School of Ballet, accompanied by Madame Atfield's ensemble of fretted instrumentalists.

Altogether, about twenty performers will take part in this singing, dancing and banjo olio, and should considerably enhance the quality of the programme.

This ensemble will include Mr. Sid Chivers, who sang "O! Man River" so finely at the Royal.

Mr. McGrath has been promised closer co-operation in future with the leaders of the various academies in presenting their most promising pupils from time to time with his assistance imparting stage technique and his valuable experience in this direction.

The concert party might inaugurate on Thursday was a complete success and will be continued twice weekly on Mondays and Thursdays. Mr. McGrath has secured the co-operating of the leading musicians and teachers and every opportunity will be given to promising talent in the better class vocal and instrumental art in Victoria.

MIRIAM SEEGER HAS SPLENDID ROLE IN CLEVER DENNY PLAY

Miriam Seeger, who plays the lead opposite Reginald Denny in "What a Man!" at the Capitol Theatre, to-day and Saturday made her stage debut at the age of thirteen as an "umbrella boy" in a Chautauque Circuit presentation of "The Mikado?"

Miriam's first dramatic part in New York was in "The Squall." At Woods, the noted producer, then sent her to London to play in "Crime," and she spent two years there on the stage and in motion pictures. After hearing herself in her first British talking picture she decided Hollywood was the place for her and lost no time in getting there. And she wasn't there very long before she was signed to appear in two talking pictures. Sono-Art engaged Miriam Seeger to play opposite Reginald Denny in "What a Man!" based on the popular novel, "The Dark Chapter," by E. J. Rath.

BRIGHT PLAY WITH MAE MURRAY SHOWING AT THE PLAYHOUSE

Marcel de Sano, director of "Peacock Alley," wondered why his friends imitated his voice until he heard himself on the talking screen as he viewed the rushes of this Tiffany all-talking production, starring Mae Murray.

The unmistakable accent of de Sano, a Frenchman by birth, aroused even his mirth, and he said that, hereafter, when spoofed by his friends, he wouldn't blame them, for it certainly did sound funny.

"Peacock Alley," with an entirely new story written by Carey Wilson, is the attraction to-day at the Playhouse Theatre. Its dialogue, singing and sound is recorded by RCA Photophone and Technicolor has photographed the natural beauty of Mae Murray's dances.

ANITA PAGE AND WILLIAM HAINES AT THE COLUMBIA

Anita Page, who loves speed, had one disappointment when she journeyed to Indianapolis to play the heroine in William Haines' new starring vehicle, "Speedway," now playing at the Columbia Theatre. She had hoped for a 108-mile an hour spin around the great race track during the making of the Metropolitan-Goldwyn-Mayer production—but the rules wouldn't allow women to be taken on risky rides. So Haines, Ernest Torrence and John Miljan got them—and Anita had to watch from the sidelines.

Harry Beaumont, director of "The Broadway Melody," directed the new play, a vivid auto race drama by Byron Morgan.

AMUSING SITUATIONS IN BARRYMORE PLAY NOW AT DOMINION

When a dinner guest, supposedly the one hired from an agency, arrives a trifle tipsy, announcing himself as Lord intent upon being the life of the party, what can the climbing Tadmarches do?

Their plight is the amusing situation at the opening of "The Man From Blankley's," John Barrymore's latest Warner Bros. comedy, which is scheduled to play at the Dominion Theatre to-day and Saturday.

The ensuing adventures make one of the most hilarious entertainments that ever rocked an audience. Nothing funnier ever came out of Britain than Sir Charles Hawtrey's success in which John Barrymore makes his second, talking picture appearance.

Loretta Young plays opposite Mr. Barrymore. Albert Gran, William Austin, Emily Fitzroy, Dick Henderson, Edgar Norton, Dale Fuller, Angela Mayne and many others are included in the supporting cast. Alfred E. Green directed.

Toronto, June 13.—Notable flags were used to unveil the Shriner's Peace Memorial, the unveiling of which climaxed the convention ceremonies yesterday. On the other side was the United States flag that was used in decorating the grave of the Unknown Soldier in the Arlington National Cemetery near Washington.

Speedy Instrument To Measure Spark

Flint, Mich., June 13.—A motorist may think he is traveling fast when he goes whizzing at seventy-five miles an hour. But figuratively he is standing still when such speed is compared with that of a delicate instrument which was used recently in connection with automotive development work.

The instrument, called an oscillograph, played an important part in the recent discovery of a new and improved spark plug electrode alloy, enabling engineers to better study the characteristics of the electric spark.

If traced a line one inch long across an exposed photographic plate in one-millionth of a second, which is equivalent to 144,100 miles an hour.

BICYCLES BUT NO HELMETS IS BOARD'S PLAN

Police Commission Considers Re-establishment of Bicycle Squad Here

Assurance to Householders, Says Staneland; "Dark Ages," Says Mayor

To bicycle or not to bicycle? That is the question which troubled the police commission somewhat yesterday afternoon and was finally left over until the next gathering of the board.

Commissioner W. E. Staneland introduced the subject, making a motion that the police bicycle squad in Victoria be re-established and that the officers wear caps instead of helmets. The residential areas of the city must be protected from the depredations of gangs of boys, he declared.

"I'm against it before you start," said Mayor Anson. "It's like going back to the dark ages."

Chief John Fry did not like the idea either, pointing out that Victoria was not big enough for such a squad. Nothing had been done in the past, he declared. The city of Toronto had greatly increased its bicycle squad during the last six years.

The bicycle officers, going quietly about their beats formed an assurance to householders who were apprehensive of burglaries and also formed protection against unruly gangs of youths. There was nothing of the dark ages about it, he claimed.

HOUSEBREAKING TOLL HEAVY
Commissioner Andrew McGavin queried the Chief with regard to housebreaking in Victoria during the last winter and the Chief said it had been an exceptional year, the heaviest on record for burglaries and all outside beats had been doubly patrolled.

"There is no doubt motorcycles do give warning to law-breakers," said Mr. McGavin. "Bicycles can cover much more ground than a foot man, of course, although I'll admit it looks foolish. And helmets are awkward clumsy ornaments. If you eliminate them it will help us into the light ages. The chin strap is irritating and they are in the way when an officer is handling a man. The police don't like them."

FAVORED HELMETS

The Mayor said he favored the elimination of helmets, too, and Commissioner Staneland pointed out that in a questionnaire on this matter in the East it was found that ninety per cent of the police were in favor of them.

After further discussion on the matter, it was laid over for one month as Mr. McGavin's request for time to procure additional information on the subject.

Missionary Sees England Improved After 18 Years Away

Reuter's Special to The Victoria Times
London, June 12.—A man who is visiting England after an absence of eighteen years sees many changes in the country and its people. He is the Rev. J. H. Cain of the Methodist Central Mission, Australia, who has come to inquire into social and economic problems with particular reference to unemployment. We are so kind and courteous a people as ever. Our friendliness impresses him greatly, but there are changes in our social habits.

"Improvements, I should call them," he says. "Here's one. During the five weeks I have been here I have not yet seen a drunken man. I should judge that poverty is not on the same scale here as it was eighteen years ago. That is probably due to unemployed pay, or the dole," as it is called, in return for which I think remunerative work should be exacted.

One sees little signs of cultivation, and one wonders if some intensive scheme of cultivation might not be worked out for the betterment of the people. Land settlement and land reform seem to be questions that need the earnest consideration of the Government."

Too Many Sausages, Not Enough Mash, Is Prisoners' Lament

Too many sausages.

Prisoners at the city jail have some sort of aversion for the (unhallowed) companions of "mash," or at least an overabundance of them, the police commission was informed by Commissioner Andrew McGavin yesterday afternoon.

The board discussed the contract for meals at the jail and it appeared they are supplied at twenty-five cents per head, costing the city on the average about $3,000 per year. It was quite expensive, the Mayor thought.

After a short discussion, it was decided to have specifications submitted by the Chief of Police on the needs in the food line at the jail.

GOVERNOR OF MARYLAND TALKS OF PROHIBITION

In Toronto He Says He Believes Law Is in United States to Stay

Canadian Press
Toronto, June 13.—Albert C. Ritchie, Governor of Maryland, a strong advocate of the repeal of the prohibition law in the United States, frankly admitted in an interview here that he saw little hope for change in the dry law.

"It was carried out by thirty-six states and it will have to be reversed or modified by that many, if any change is to be made," he said. "Thirteen states can hold it, according to the constitution of the country."

"The trouble is that under our present law the young people are drinking more than they used to," he said.

"Of course, Canada and the United States have lived so long and so peacefully side by side that we do not anticipate any trouble between our two countries, but the whole matter of tariffs is a matter for consideration in a world war."

Governor Ritchie was present at the unveiling of the Peace Monument here yesterday in connection with the International Shriners' convention.

Magnesia Best for Acid Indigestion

Warns Against Doping Stomach With Artificial Digestants

Most people who used to suffer from gas, sourness, bloating and indigestion have now given up disagreeable diets and the use of harmful artificial digestants. Instead they eat their favorite and formerly forbidden foods and after meals take a little Bisulphate of Magnesia—either tablets or powder—in some water. They have no stomach trouble. Most so-called indigestion is merely "too much acid" in the stomach. Food sourness and ferment before it can be digested. Gas forms. The stomach needs an alkaline to give safe, certain and speedy relief.

Bisulphate of Magnesia instantly neutralizes excess stomach acids, sweetens the food contents, ends gas and bloating—and quickly stops stomach pain. Then digestion becomes easy. It is a safe, pleasant and convenient method to use, and druggists everywhere sell it on a positive guarantee of satisfactory relief or money back. Try a test package on this plan, and enjoy your meals with no more fear of indigestion.

NORMAL SCHOOL STUDENTS URGE TWO-YEAR TERM

Work Too Much For One Year, Say Speakers at Annual Banquet

More than 200 students and visitors attended the annual banquet of the Provincial Normal School in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium yesterday evening. D. L. McLaurin, principal of the school, occupied the chair in reply to the toast "The Department of Education," proposed by A. F. Mathews, Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe, Minister of Education, spoke in humorous vein, referring to complaints on the work of the department as "roars of disapprobation." It was with a feeling of great satisfaction, he said, that he had learned from the principal of the Normal School that the proper words for the first verse of the National Anthem.

Inauguration of a two-year course at the school instead of the one-year term was urged by speakers to the least. "The Students of Class 1929-30," H. Dunnett, the proposer, spoke of the advantages of such a course and was supported in the response by Miss Montaldi and Don Clumore. Miss Montaldi pointed out there was so much work to be undertaken in one year that a two-year course would be more beneficial.

Miss O. Davenport proposed "Our Guests," saying the students looked forward confidently to association with the members of the educational department and the inspectors in the future. J. M. Campbell, principal of North Ward School, in reply, said that among his most pleasant memories were those of his association with the Normal School.

Presentations made during the evening included a prize to Miss Ebb-Chauvan for writing the best synopsis of one of Capt. Ian St. Clair's lectures and a gold medal to Charles Greenland for physical training efficiency. Vocal solos by Miss Edith Morton, Miss Dorothy Sturges and Charles Greenland, and a piano solo by Miss Barbara Fraser were rendered and the evening was brought to a close with dancing.

Police Head To Attend Parley

Chief of Police John Fry was yesterday afternoon delegated by the police commission to attend the convention of Pacific Northwest sheriffs and police chiefs in Vancouver on June 21.

The sum of $100 was also voted to send a contingent of local police athletes to the Vancouver police sports on June 25.

Board Permits Press Access To Police Bulletin

A request for freer access to police records for representatives of the press was made by Commissioner Andrew McGavin at yesterday's meeting of the police commission.

Commissioner McGavin asked why the press was barred from seeing the printed bulletin carrying all reports entered at the station. He thought they should have full access to this bulletin.

Chief Fry stated it was only natural that certain items of information coming to police headquarters should not be made public. Mayor Anson declared reports of burglaries had the effect of making housewives apprehensive and Commissioner W. E. Staneland also regarded the problem from the angle that certain matters could not be given to the press.

After explanation by reporters at the meeting that they were allowed perusal of the police file, a motion was passed permitting the press to see the bulletin sheet. The resolution was moved by Commissioner McGavin and seconded by Commissioner Staneland.
